

This is a plan from the planning application for the 1866 building, submitted to the Board of Works in 1864. The quality is not good, but it does show the relationship between the original L-shaped building and the present one.

